Service provider	o87Enterprises ([address / contact])
Client	Northwest Siding Contractors of Eugene ([owner name], [address], [phone], [email])
Effective date	[DATE]
Term	30-day trial starting on [START DATE], then month-to-month unless ended by either party in writing

1. Services

o87Enterprises will provide the following digital services for the Client, in the order and timing agreed in writing:

- Hosting review and, after all details are captured, hosting of the Client's website.
- A lead-capture hook (contact form with instant alerts to the Client).
- A targeted local search strategy (SEO, answer-engine and generative-engine optimization) for the agreed service-area ZIP codes.
- Search Console-type setup and reporting so traffic, searches and leads can be measured.
- Review of affiliate and other digital-revenue opportunities (Attachment B, Sections 4 and 5).
- A CRM with automated review requests and automated replies, once the Client approves a tool.

2. Retainer deposit

The Client will pay a $100.00 retainer deposit to begin work (see the invoice below). The retainer is non-refundable. It is only a retainer: it is not deducted from, or credited toward, any fee agreed later under Section 3. Work begins when the signed agreement and the deposit have both been received.

3. 30-day free trial and results review

The 30-day trial is free; the only charge is the retainer in Section 2. At the end of the 30 days the parties will review three things together: (1) how many leads were generated, (2) how many jobs were booked, and (3) how revenue for the month compares with the previous month. The review runs on the honor system: the Client reports his own job and revenue figures, and o87Enterprises reports the website, call and form lead numbers it can see. If the results show value, the fee will be calculated after that value has been determined, and the parties will agree on it together. No fee beyond the retainer is owed unless both parties agree to it in writing. The amount will be set in writing after the review.

4. Client responsibilities

The Client will provide the access, accounts and information listed in the attached Attachment A: Client Checklist in a timely manner, and will grant access through each platform's own sharing feature (for example delegate access) instead of sharing passwords. Delays in providing items may delay the work.

5. Ownership and credit

Once a signed agreement and the retainer are received, the finished website is jointly owned by the Client and o87Enterprises. Until then, the design, layout, copy and branding concepts remain the property of o87Enterprises, consistent with the Non-Use Agreement shown on the demo site. o87Enterprises will remain credited on the site, and may use the work for its own promotion and professional purposes, including portfolios, and may reuse the design and code as a template for other websites.

Client branding is not reusable. o87Enterprises may not reuse the Client's branding in any other project or template. This covers the Client's name, logo, photos, testimonials, license details, contact information and any content the Client supplied. Only the underlying design and code, with all Client branding and content removed, may be reused. Domain names and the Client's accounts (hosting, Search Console, analytics, business profiles) remain the Client's.

6. Ending the agreement

Either party may end this agreement with [NUMBER] days' written notice. On ending, o87Enterprises will hand over access to all accounts set up in the Client's name and any Client data. The retainer is non-refundable (Section 2).

7. Results and liability

Search rankings, leads and revenue depend on factors outside o87Enterprises' control and are not guaranteed. [LIABILITY, CONFIDENTIALITY, GOVERNING LAW (Oregon) and DISPUTE TERMS - to be completed with legal review.]

Attachment A: Client Checklist

Everything the Client needs to provide or answer. Give access through each platform's sharing feature; never send passwords by email or text.

Next step: once the hosting details in Section A are in hand, o87Enterprises proceeds with getting everything active (hosting, lead capture, search setup, then CRM and review automation, each approved by the Client first).

A. Domain and hosting (GoDaddy)

	Item
[ ]	Invite o87Enterprises through GoDaddy delegate access (the Client invites us from their GoDaddy account; we need our own GoDaddy account to accept; invites expire after a couple of days). Limit it to what we need.
[ ]	Which GoDaddy products he has: domain only, hosting, Website Builder, email, or a bundle. Plan names and renewal dates.
[ ]	What he pays GoDaddy per year for each product (needed for the hosting cost comparison).
[ ]	Who the domain is registered to, and the email on the registrant record.
[ ]	Where his business email is hosted (GoDaddy, Microsoft 365, Google Workspace). Changing DNS or nameservers can break email, so we must know before any switch.
[ ]	If we later move the domain: the domain unlocked and an authorization (transfer) code, plus no recent registrant-contact changes.
[ ]	A copy or export of the current site's pages, images and text, or access so we can copy it.

B. Search and measurement accounts

	Item
[ ]	Google Search Console: add our Google email under Settings, Users and permissions (Full user is enough to view data; Owner if we must manage users). If no property exists, we set it up after the domain access above.
[ ]	Google Analytics (GA4): does he have it? If yes, add us as a user; if not, we create one in his name.
[ ]	Google Business Profile: is there one? Add us as a manager (not owner) so he keeps control.
[ ]	Bing Webmaster Tools, Meta/Facebook page, and other business listings (Yelp, BBB, Nextdoor, HomeAdvisor/Angi): which exist, and sharing access where possible.
[ ]	Any existing ad accounts (Google Ads, Meta) and call-tracking numbers.

C. Business details for the site and strategy

	Item
[ ]	Legal business name, phone, address, hours, and the email where lead alerts should go (and a text number, if wanted).
[ ]	Contractor license number(s) and any insurance or bonding details he wants shown. [Confirm Oregon display rules for ads and websites before launch.]

	Item
[ ]	Exact service area: the cities and ZIP codes he will actually travel to. The target corridor discussed is Albany through Bend through Medford; confirm what is realistic for crews.
[ ]	Services and siding materials he installs (fiber cement, vinyl, wood, metal, etc.), brands he prefers, and what he does not do.
[ ]	Typical job sizes and which jobs he most wants more of.
[ ]	Warranty terms, financing options, and any manufacturer certifications.
[ ]	Project photos (before/after), crew photos, logo files, and permission to use them.
[ ]	Existing customer reviews, testimonials, and a list of past customers who might leave reviews (with permission to contact).
[ ]	How leads are handled today: who answers the phone, response time, how quotes are tracked.
[ ]	Competitors he respects or wants to beat.
[ ]	Social accounts and any videos he already has.

D. Decisions only the Client can make

	Item
[ ]	Approve the CRM and automated review/reply tool before we set anything up (see Attachment B, Section 6).
[ ]	Approve affiliate links on the site and agree which products he is comfortable recommending.
[ ]	At the end of the 30 days, report leads, jobs booked, and revenue for the month compared with the previous month (honor system). Keep a simple count of calls, quotes and booked jobs during the trial to make this easy.
[ ]	Choose the person who approves content and answers questions during the trial.

Attachment B: Recommendations

Research summary as of October 2026. Facts below come from the sources linked at the end. Where sources disagree or I could not confirm something, it says so. Verify prices on each company's own page before committing.

1. Hosting options

Goal: cut web-service costs. Current GoDaddy cost is unknown until the Client answers Section A of the checklist.

Option	What the research found	Fit
Cloudflare Pages (free)	Commercial use allowed. 500 builds/month, 20,000 files per site, 25 MiB per file, 100 custom domains per project. Bandwidth reported as unmetered by third-party sites; not confirmed on Cloudflare's own limits page. Cloudflare is also steering new projects toward Workers static assets.	Strong. The preview site already runs here.
Netlify (free)	Commercial use allowed. Credit-based billing since Sept 2025; roughly 30 GB of bandwidth on the free tier per one source. Overage reported expensive (about $55 per 100 GB).	Fine as a backup; watch overage.
Vercel (Hobby)	Free plan limited to non-commercial use, so a business site needs a paid plan (Pro listed at $20 per member per month).	Not recommended for a free commercial site.
Keep GoDaddy	Price unknown. Compare after the Client shares his plan and renewal cost.	Decide with real numbers.

Domain: Cloudflare Registrar transfers are at cost with no markup (wholesale registry fee plus a small ICANN fee). A transfer requires the domain to be at least 60 days old, no registrant-contact change in the last 60 days, the domain added to Cloudflare first, and an authorization code from the current registrar. Transfers can take several days. GoDaddy's own unlock/code steps were not covered in my research.

Do first: point the domain to the new host only after email is confirmed safe, because DNS changes can interrupt email.

2. Lead-capture hook

- Start simple: a short quote-request form on every page plus click-to-call, sending an instant email/text alert to the Client.
- Add a missed-call text-back so unanswered calls get an automatic text. Dedicated tools exist (Podium lists from $399/month per one third-party listing; other cheaper tools advertise the feature but I did not confirm prices).
- Track the source of every lead (form, call, Google Business Profile) so the 30-day trial has real numbers.

3. Local SEO, AEO and GEO strategy

This is a strategy outline, not researched data. I have not picked ZIP codes: the high-income, high-development ZIP list should be built from Census income data and county building-permit data, then checked against where the Client's crews will go.

- Phase by region: Eugene/Albany first, then Bend, then Medford, once each area has pages and reviews. The corridor is wide, so confirm crew travel range.

- Pages: one page per service per city or ZIP cluster (for example fiber cement siding in Bend), each with real project photos and local detail, not copied text.
- Google Business Profile: complete the profile, add service areas, post projects, and ask for reviews steadily.
- AEO/GEO (answer and AI search): put direct answers to common questions at the top of pages (cost, lifespan, materials, permits), add FAQ and local-business structured data, and keep name, address and phone identical everywhere.
- Measurement: Search Console for queries and pages, GA4 for visits and leads, and a monthly report.

4. Affiliate and referral programs

Research on what pays when the Client recommends products. Rates below come from third-party sites and conflict; confirm in each program's dashboard.

Program	Findings	Notes
Home Depot (via Impact)	Reported rates vary by source: about 1% to 8% tiered by category; cookie windows reported from 1 to 30 days.	Rates unconfirmed. Check Impact.
Lowe's	Reported up to about 2% on most products, 24-hour cookie in one source. Some sources say rates are not published.	Unconfirmed.
Amazon Associates	Most 2026 sources put Home Improvement and Tools at 3%; one source says 4%.	Confirm in the Operating Agreement.
James Hardie ALLIANCE	Not an affiliate program. Contractor network (relaunched Feb 2025): rewards points on qualifying products submitted within 90 days of install, homeowner referrals, marketing support, tiered membership.	Worth applying to if he installs Hardie.
LP SmartSide	No referral or affiliate program found in my search.	Check Louisiana-Pacific directly.

- Product categories to research next with specific manufacturers: caulk and sealants, flashing tape, fasteners, trim, paint and stain, and tools. I have not verified any specific manufacturer affiliate program beyond the table.
- Any affiliate link must be clearly disclosed as an affiliate relationship, and he should only recommend products he actually uses.

5. Other digital revenue ideas

Ideas only; none have been researched or priced.

- Referral partnerships with other trades (roofing, windows, gutters, painting). Check Oregon rules on referral fees first.
- Financing-partner referral fees.
- A downloadable siding buyer's guide as a lead magnet.
- Maintenance or inspection plans for past customers.
- Sponsored placements or partner content once traffic is established.

6. CRM, automated review requests and auto-reply

- NiceJob: review-request tool with a native Housecall Pro integration; sends invites shortly after a job closes (not to past customers automatically). One contractor site lists about $75/month.
- Podium: includes missed-call text-back; listed from $399/month by one third-party source.
- Reviewflowz (for Housecall Pro users): pay-per-message (email $5 per 1,000, SMS $5 per 100 per its page).
- Jobber and Housecall Pro: common contractor CRMs. I could not find current plan prices; check their pricing pages.
- Recommendation: pick the CRM first (based on how the Client already quotes and invoices), then add review and auto-reply on top. Get the Client's approval before any tool is set up.

7. Influencer ideas and inspiration clips

Creators and clips we are drawing inspiration from. More will be added, along with how each one could apply to Northwest Siding.
